“General Meeting” means a general meeting of members convened under Part IV Division 5, and Rule 58 in respect of Branches;

“the Act” means the Associations Incorporation Act 1991 (ACT);

(2) In these rules—

A reference to:

(i) one gender includes the other gender;

(ii) a statute, regulation or provision of a statute or regulation ("Statutory Provision") includes:

a. that Statutory provision as amended or re-enacted from time to time; and

b. a statute, regulation or provision enacted in replacement of that Statutory Provision.

(b) Headings are for convenience only and do not form part of this Constitution or affect its interpretation.

- (c) "Including" and similar expressions are not words of limitation.
- (d) Where a word or expression is given a particular meaning, other parts of speech and grammatical forms of that word or expression have a corresponding meaning.

3. Objects

3.1 The objects of the Association are:

- (1) to make a strong contribution to public health policy by –
 - (a) advocating for the reduction in health inequality across the Australian and international communities.
 - (b) encouraging research and promoting knowledge relating to the problems, needs and development of public health, which may include study in the following areas:
 - (i) the distribution, determinants and significance of health, sickness and disabilities in communities,
 - (ii) the social, behavioural and biological sciences in relation to health and disease,
 - (iii) the impact of the physical and social environment on health, and the prevention and control of disease,
 - (iv) the economic, social and personal resources required for the optimum health of individuals,
 - (v) the health problems and needs of the community, and the distribution and utilisation of health resources,
 - (vi) the structure and organisation, and function, planning and management of health services and health information systems; and
 - (vii) the causes and likely remedies for a reduction of social and economic inequities in health status, especially the inequities between Indigenous and Non-Indigenous populations.
 - (c) promoting and providing a forum for the regular exchange of views and information, and developing policies, in relation to the areas set out in (a) above;
 - (d) promoting the development and education of workers engaged in these areas;
 - (e) promoting excellence in public health practice; and
 - (f) advocating the objects and policies of the Association.

(2) to support the following Health Equity Values Statement

(a) Health is a human right, a vital resource for everyday life, and a key factor in sustainability. Health equity and inequity do not exist in isolation from the conditions of society that underpin people's health. The health status of all people is impacted by the social, political, environmental and economic determinants of health. Specific focus on these determinants is necessary to reduce the unfair and unjust effects of conditions of living that cause poor health and disease.

(b) Equity in health, whether nationally or internationally, is about eliminating unnecessary, avoidable, and preventable health differences among and between population groups and communities. Social position is directly correlated with health, resulting in a 'social-health gradient' that affects all parts of society. The widening gap across the social gradient is of increasing concern. Health inequities are underpinned by social inequities and are understood primarily at the level of populations rather than individuals.

(c) The PHAA believes that systematic differences in social equity and health impose a growing threat to the fabric of Australian society, to productivity and our sense of fairness. Health is created by universal quality health care but is primarily produced in families, schools and workplaces, in playgrounds and parks, in the air we breathe, the water we drink, and the food we eat

(d) The PHAA will act, and call for action, to address the social determinants of health in a concerted manner at all levels of government and by all relevant sectors and stakeholders. Together it is our responsibility to strengthen prevention and health promotion to focus on social deprivation and health inequities.

(3) to encourage and develop membership of the Association by promoting, maintaining and extending the interests of the Branches and Special Interest Groups of the Association and of any affiliated organizations.

3.2 To give effect to its objects, the Association may:

- (a) hold periodical meetings of its members;
- (b) receive subscriptions from members;
- (c) apply for and accept money by way of grant, gift, bequest or otherwise;
- (d) use sums of money out of the Association's funds for research, study and the promotion of health or health services;
- (e) invest the moneys of the Association;
- (f) receive, obtain and hold lands, securities and other property real or personal;
- (g) execute any special trusts in connection with moneys or property held by the Association;
- (h) apply the capital and income of the funds and property of the Association subject to the trusts (if any);
